

Instead of this exemption, how about you have you have a new rule that allows people to choose if they want to be contacted by businesses they have bought from in the last 18 months. It should be the people's decision, not what the telemarketers want.